President's Welcome

Song Hong
CATESOL President 2023-2025

Welcome to the 2024 CATESOL State Conference, Empowering Voices: Bridging Communities through Civic Learning and Digital Literacies!

We are grateful to gather at Cal State LA this year to explore ways to bridge communities and empower our students. More than ever, we appreciate you for what you do to support and guide our students through their educational journey.

I hope you find the conference enlightening and impactful. Many CATESOL Committee members and volunteers have worked tirelessly over the past six months.

CATESOL thrives because of all of you and your dedication. Furthermore, we invited CATESOL's former Presidents and Sadae Iwataki winners to join us in celebrating their contributions to CATESOL and the many educators and students they have influenced. Join us at the President's Reception on Friday evening and right after the Saturday Plenary session.

Lastly, I am excited to showcase the CATESOL Awards winners at the Friday and Saturday Plenaries.

Whether you're here to learn, network, or present, we hope this conference encourages you and strengthens your professional journey. I look forward to seeing you virtually and in person during the conference.

Warm regards,
Song Hong

CATESOL 2024 State Conference

Program Chair's Welcome

Bahiyyih Hardacre
2024 State Conference Chair

When discussing possible themes for this year's conference, the CATESOL Executive Committee agreed that civic learning and digital literacies were leading choices. We saw them as very important topics that deserve more attention and open discussion amongst our community. To come up with a sentence that connected these two concepts, we typed the terms into ChatGPT which generated the phrase, "Empowering Voices: Bridging Communities through Civic Learning and Digital Literacies." We liked the idea that civic learning and digital literacies are very important not only in our personal communications but also in our professional and educational interactions, amplifying and empowering the voices of those who know how to use them well. And given that we should always cite our sources, which includes the use of generative AI, here you go!

From plenary talks by leading voices in their fields to a rich program containing presentations, panels, and workshops aligned with the conference theme, we will engage in collegial conversations on topics that are extremely relevant to our profession right now, ranging from the role of digital technologies such as generative artificial intelligence (AI), augmented reality (AR), and virtual reality (VR) in our classrooms, to the incorporation of such tools as well as imagination, play, and civics into our practice to transform teaching and learning. As teachers, we all strive to provide our students with the tools they need to not only hone their communicative skills but also to develop a curious mindset and the ability to interact effectively with others, improve their communities, and participate in society.

In addition to sessions that focus on digital literacies and civic learning in language education, this program also offers many additional sessions on topics that are relevant to novice teachers and veterans alike. Presentations created by our CATESOL level and interest group leaders also provide outlets for issues that are relevant to those groups. Levels include the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, College/University, Community College, Adult Education, K-12, and Intensive English Program. Interest groups include California State Universities, University of Southern California, Corpus-informed Research and Teaching, Intercultural Communication, LGBTQ+, Materials Writers, Non-native Language Educator Issues, Teaching English in the Workplace, Teaching of Pronunciation, Technology Enhanced Language Learning, Online Teaching, Refugee Concerns, and Research Writers.

Finally, we are bringing publishers and exhibitors that will showcase their hottest and newest products, and we will host fun events throughout the conference, including the President's Reception on Friday night with the Brazilian live band Caro Pierotto!

I would love to meet many of you in person during the conference. Don't hesitate to stop me to say "hello" and introduce yourselves!

Looking forward to seeing you there.

Warmly,

Bahiyyih Hardacre

Thursday Plenary Speaker Dr. Antero Garcia

Shift, Return, & Heal: Building Justice from Within Our Classrooms

5:30 p.m.-6:45 p.m.

In this talk, Dr. Antero Garcia explores contemporary contexts for supporting diverse classrooms for justice-centered learning. Building on examples ranging from youth literacy practices on public school buses to ethical storytelling activities with immigrant communities, this talk offers examples for educators and the necessary questions that must guide our field in ever tenuous times. With research spanning from across the U.S., the topics in this talk will focus on the needs of learners of all ages and educators in both K-12 and higher education contexts. Finally, this talk will conclude with opportunities for group participation and Q&A.

Antero Garcia is an Associate Professor in the Graduate School of Education at Stanford University and the vice president of the National Council of Teachers of English. His research explores the possibilities of speculative imagination and healing in educational research. Prior to completing his Ph.D., Garcia was an English teacher at a public high school in South Central Los Angeles. He has authored or edited more than a dozen books about the possibilities of literacies, play, and civics in transforming schooling in America. Antero currently co-edits La Cuenta, an online publication centering the voices and perspectives of individuals labeled undocumented in the U.S.

The AfroMetaverse as Black Placemaking for Racial Justice in TESOL

4:15 p.m.-5:30 p.m.

This presentation explores AfroMetaverse as a digital site of Black placemaking, where Black adolescents from Brazil, Colombia, and the U.S. engage in language learning and cultural exchange through AR and VR. Drawing on Black placemaking, global Blackness, and Critical Race Pedagogy, the project addresses historical harms in language education by centering Black students' experiences. Modeled after the ARENA platform, AfroMetaverse is positioned at the forefront of educational technology. The presentation will discuss the project's development, collaborations, and potential impact on racial justice in TESOL and multilingual education.

Uju Anya is a scholar of new language learning and Black experiences in multilingualism. She is an Associate Professor of Second Language Acquisition at Carnegie Mellon University, the 2023 Duolingo Research Fellow, and a 2023 Mellon Foundation New Directions Fellow. Her fields of inquiry are applied linguistics, sociolinguistics, world language education, multilingual education in the metaverse, and she primarily conducts critical discourse studies examining race, gender, sexual, and social class identities in new language learning through the multilingual journeys of African American students.

AI in Second Language Education: Grabbing the Bull by the Horns

11:00 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Generative AI is one of the most powerful technologies of communication that the world has yet seen, but one that is especially challenging to harness, especially in second language learning contexts. This presentation will discuss approaches to incorporate generative AI in second language classrooms that can successfully foster writing skills, language development, and critical AI literacy for academic and career success.

Mark Warschauer is a Distinguished Professor of Education and director of the Digital Learning Lab at UC Irvine with affiliated appointments in Informatics, Language Science, and Psychological Science. He is one of the most widely-cited scholars in the world on digital learning topics such as computer-assisted language learning, digital literacy, the digital divide, one-to-one laptop classrooms, and artificial intelligence in education. His team is currently focusing on generative AI in Education, the use of conversational agents to support children's learning and on the teaching and learning of computer science for linguistically diverse students.
